

VISITING BILLINGS FARM & MUSEUM SAFELY

Here at Billings Farm & Museum we look forward to welcoming the public back to our site. It is our priority to make sure the well-being of our guests and our staff is safeguarded. To that end, we want to share with you the protocols we will follow to take care of you and each other.

CORE SAFETY PILLARS

Billings Farm & Museum has adopted Six Core Safety Pillars to guide our decisions on opening safely and to inform how we operate safely across the BF&M site. These Pillars apply to both staff and guests:

-  Stay home when ill
 - Temperatures of staff and guest checked at entry
-  Practice physical distancing (6' minimum)
 - Guests who are not traveling together must be 6' apart at all times
 - Staff will maintain 6' distancing
-  Wear face coverings
 - All guests over the age of 2 are required to wear a face covering while on site. No entry permitted without one
 - As an additional measure, BF&M has installed translucent protective physical barriers at transaction points
-  Minimize contact with touchable surfaces
 - Frequently touched surfaces will be sanitized at regular intervals throughout the day
-  Wash and sanitize hands frequently
 - Sanitization stations are easily accessible in each open area of BF&M
-  Manage occupancy, flow, and gathering in spaces
 - Guests have a designated “in” and “out” space or door in each open area of BF&M
 - BF&M will align maximum occupancy in each of its spaces with all Vermont public health guidelines
 - The BF&M site is limited to a maximum capacity of 225 people at one time, per State of Vermont guidance
